

SAYS MARRIAGE WAS PRETENDED

Jacinthe Walsh Makes a Sensational Charge in Divorce Suit.

Jacinthe J. Walsh, a minor, by her next friend, J. P. Rodriguez, has filed a petition in the Circuit Court for nullification of what she terms an alleged marriage of herself to Patrick J. Walsh. This is the second suit filed by the plaintiff, who claims she is not yet fourteen years of age. In her petition she says: "That at Wailua on the 13th day of October, 1901, a certain pretended marriage was celebrated between the said Jacinthe J. Walsh and the said Patrick J. Walsh, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Father Herman Schrad. That at the time of the celebration of the said marriage the plaintiff was a mere child and had not attained the age of fourteen years, and was not capable, under the law, of consenting to said marriage, and had not attained the legal age of marriage."

She complains of bodily harm from the defendant, and asks that an order issue by the court restraining and enjoining the defendant from in any way interfering with her liberty, person or comfort, and that the court declare the marriage contract null and void. Judge Humphreys yesterday made an order that the complaint be filed, permission being given to plaintiff to institute the action by her next friend as named.

Children's Gibberish.

Will some one please rise and suggest an explanation and a remedy for the broken gibberish indulged in by the little boys and girls on the streets of Waikuku, in lieu of plain, correct English? Draw near a game of marbles or buttons, and the vernacular spoken by the little tots would lead one to think he had strayed into a Choctaw village. Chinese, Japanese, Hawaiian, and occasionally a badly mutilated English word form the colloquial stock of the little ones. This is not true of outside districts, for even at Kakaia a much purer English is spoken, while at Waihee, Makawao and other places, the English spoken by the children is notably pure and correct. The schools can do much but they cannot do all to correct this mischievous tendency, and a remedy is certainly needed.—Maui News.

Kepoikai for Judge.

A few days since a Hawaiian asked the editor of this paper "If Judge Kalua resigns, whom would you wish to succeed him?" And the answer came at once: "Any honest and capable Hawaiian." Maui possesses at least two gentlemen of this caliber, namely Hon. A. N. Kepoikai of Wailuku and Judge Charles Copp of Makawao, either one of whom would fill the position with honor to himself and satisfaction to the people, and either one of whom would receive the hearty and cordial support of the News.—Maui News.

Inter-Island Communication.

The time has arrived when there must be closer and quicker communication between the Islands, both by boat and electricity. The tide of travel and the amount of freight shipped would continuously increase if moderate passenger and freight rates were fixed, so that soon two boats—and larger, better and faster ones—would be needed for every one that runs now. When the cable arrives, better telegraphic communication at cheaper rates must come. If the wireless system does not furnish this, cable telegraphic or telephone lines will do so.—Maui News.

Mercy turns her back on the unmerciful.—Quarries.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A meeting of the Board of Education will be held tomorrow morning.

The postage to the States or Canada on the New Years edition of the Advertiser is 4 cents.

The hearing of the Paul J. Voeller bankruptcy matter was set for Saturday by Judge Estee yesterday.

Ninety deaths were reported to the Board of Health during December, which is a comparatively small number for that month. A large number of the deaths were due to tuberculosis, that disease still making considerable inroads on the health of the community. Quite a number of deaths were also reported as due to pneumonia.

The Chinese reform element won the annual election in the meeting of the United Chinese Society Wednesday evening. The ticket led by the Chinese Consul Yang Wei Pin, was routed, after a three hours' debate. The new officers are: C. K. Ai, president; Yen Ki Ngan, vice president; Lau Tang, secretary; Ho Fon, treasurer; Wong Chee, assistant treasurer.

Marshal Hendry has not appointed a successor to L. A. Andrews, field deputy for Hawaii, who resigned a short time ago because the fees allowed him did not cover the expense of the office. There have been no applicants for the position, which is one of honor rather than of profit. When Sheriff Andrews was given the appointment he was one out of a dozen applicants, but his experience in the office has not led any of his old competitors to seek the job now. No appointment is likely to be made for some time.
